Welcome to Hadleigh Art Trail

Visit Hadleigh this October to discover a range of artists, exhibitions, workshops and events in shops, businesses and public spaces around the town, including the newly restored Old Fire Station – a local landmark that has been transformed in to artist studios and community hub. We hope you enjoy yourselves!

Artist Trail

Follow a route around the town to view temporary art exhibitions in business and retail premises and shop windows. Artworks from professional artists, local community groups and undiscovered young talent will be on show.

Open Studios

Meet local artists and watch them at work with an Open Studios weekend by ACAVA at Hadleigh Old Fire Station (Venue 7) (10am-6pm, Saturday 8 and Sunday 9 October). Drop in to the nearby Art Ministry (Venue 14) throughout the week to see community art classes in progress and student's work on display. Opening times vary – please visit website for details.

Hadleigh Old Fire Station Resident Artists

Hashim Akib, Barry Andrews, Marie Antoniou, Sharon Byrne, Matt Do, goEast, David Hurrell, Alan Hockett, Stephen King, Emma Mower, Chris Ruston and Jane Woollatt.

Public Art

Visit Morrisons (Venue 6) for a chance to see artist's impressions of two new public artworks due to be unveiled in 2012 by celebrated mural artist Graeme Willson and renowned sculptor Graham Ibbeson.

Free Art Workshop

Join local organisation The Art Factory for a free, drop-in art workshop using recycled and waste materials (Hadleigh Old Fire Station (Venue 7) 10am-3pm, Saturday 8 October).

Make a day of it

Hadleigh, in the borough of Castle Point, is home to Hadleigh Farm – the Mountain Bike event venue for the 2012 Olympic Games. Make a day of it by visiting the Farm and other local attractions including Hadleigh Country Park and the late-medieval Hadleigh Castle, a preserved ancient monument overlooking the Thames Estuary.

Disclaimer: The organisers of the Hadleigh Art Trail cannot accept liability for loss, damage or injury sustained by any member of the public visiting any of the Hadleigh Art Trail venues. The public do so at their own risk.

Hadleigh Art Trail is facilitated by Rochford District Council on behalf of Essex Legacy and in partnership with Castle Point Borough Council.
